

Thessaloniki

We, dear friend, are natives of Thessaloniki... She is a great city and the foremost city of the Macedonians.... Thessaloniki boasts as her instructor in true piety Paul himself, 'the chosen vessel', who... sowed the seed of the knowledge of God especially in her, and laboured zealously to produce in abundance the harvest of faith. After Paul, she had to instruct her that great Martyr and amazing champion of the faith Demetrios, whose relics exude fragrant oil in great abundance... A magnificent deep-water harbour adjoins the city, allowing mariners to bring in their ships in safety and berth them in an anchorage undisturbed by wind or wave, which its designer cut off from the rest of the sea...

Vines planted side by side wreath the fields in dense array and urge the beauty-loving eye to gladness with the multifarious clusters of their fruit. ...Deer, in fact, come down from the mountains, rejoicing at the sight of water in the lakes, where they drink their fill and mingle with the herds of cattle for a common meal.
